Human Services Need Tax Money —Is That Good?

Helicopters flew National Guardsmen into the devastated canyon Sunday to help the campers, sightseers and residents until they could be rescued from the flash flood that raged through the canyon Saturday night.

Recovery teams on foot, on horseback and in jeeps found 58 to 63 bodies. Larimer County Sheriff Robert Watson said the death toll would almost certainly go higher.

Associated Press newsman William Ritz, aboard a military helicopter on a late-afternoon flight, saw at least six smashed concrete bridges, twisted on their sides in the river bed with water still curning around them.

Dead rainbow trout, forced out of the river by the violence of the water, landed 10 feet away on hillsides.

included a half million U.S. soldiers. Only four Americans are still known to be in Vietnam after an exodus which began with the Communist takeover 15 months

Three members of the Sunday group which included 37 adults and 12 children had applied to remain in Vietnem, but most had tried vainly to leave the country since the Communist triumph.

The group included relief workers, former U.S. government contract employes, the representative of a Missing In Action (MIA) organization and a mailman from Brooklyn, N.Y., who had flown into Saigon to find his sweetheart two days before North Vietnamese tanks rolled into the city April 30, 1975.

"We are not interested in keeping Americans in Vietnam. We have more important things to do than to worry about them," a United Nations spokesman quoted Vietnamese authorities as telling him prior to Sunday's flight from Saigon. Several of the returnees said authorities were pushing to get all of the remaining several hundred foreigners out of southern Vietnam

The U.N. spokesman said he was told that Richard Hughes, who headed a group to help Saigon shoeshine boys, Teresa Ann Reed and John H. Gay were the only registered Americans still in Vietnam although they admitted there might be a number of Vietnamese, especially children, carrying U.S. passports in the country.

Mass

While Hughes and Reed were expected to leave shortly, several returnees said Gay and another American - Tucker Gugelman — were probably under arrest in Hanol, with Gugelman accused of working for the CIA.

South and North Vietnam were united after the Communist victory and both are now ruled from Hanol.

Gay, a black married to a Vietnamese woman, is believed to have been in jall for some time. One of the returnees said he had seen Gey's wife in Saigon Saturday night and she had a letter from her husband postmarked in Hanoi.

Although several in the group had spent time in jail, usually on suspicion of CIA in-volvement, most said they had been well treated by the authorities.

The outlooks of the Americans on developments in Vietnam were as varied as their personal histories.

Eucharistic Congress In Philadelphia

Opens PHILADELPHIA (AP) - The 41st International Eucharistic Congress, the first such gathering in the United States in 50 years, opened Sunday with solemn worship, pageantry and a plea for a "fresh spiritual way of thinking."

James Cardinal Knox, personal representative of Pope Paul VI, told a global congregation of dignitaries that failure to apply Christian truths has brought "strife, tribulation and unhappiness" to the world. He urged it to "put aside illusions" of sensualitism, greed and false securities and called for deepened dedication to being "united with Christ" to fulfill both the physical and spiritual needs of humanity.

Cardinals Knox also presented a gift from Pope Paul to Philadelphia Archbishop John Cardinal Krol of an historic platinum and silver chalice, wrought when the American colonies were becoming a new nation 200 years ago.

The chalice had been presented to Pope Pius VI in the 1700s by King Charles III of Spain and the Indies to mark settlement of the new world. About 2,000 Roman Catholic notables, along with Protestant and civic representatives, packed the lofty Cathedral of Sts. Peter and Paul for the formal opening service, a stirring, newly composed mass.

Prince Rainier and Princess Grace of Monaco occupied a front pew, along with Mayor Frank Rizzo amid the colorful panoply of vestments and

Other throngs filled a side chapel, equipped with television, or heard the service over loudspeakers outside.

An estimated one million people are expected in Philadelphia for the eight-day congress.

A kind of showcase of the universality and diversity of Roman Catholicism, the congress dappled the city with a variety of meetings and performances, including a huge parade later Sun-

With floats depicting various aspects of the congress theme, "The Eucharist and Hungers of the Human Family," the parade route wound two miles from Independence Hall in downtown Philadelphia to the cathedral.

More than 40,000 persons were designated for the march led by a mounted, uniformed color guard bearing flags of various nations, and including a score of costumed national heritage

Afterward came an outdoor, candleht procession, featuring a choir of 1,000 voices, and the cardinals, bishops, priests, nuns and laity from around the world in the cathedral area.

Here, the theme centered on humanity's various "hungers" - for God, for bread, for freedom and justice, for spiritual health, truth, understanding, peace and for Christ.

Protestant leaders present included the Rev. Dr. Robert Marshall, president of the Lutheran Church in America, and William P. Thompson, chief executive of the United Presbyterian Church and president of the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A.

Pope Paul, who at first hoped to attend but called off his trip because of arthritis, said in a message brought by Cardinal Knox that holding the congress in Philadelphia was especially appropriate. The city's name, which means brotherly love, "can in a certain way" apply to the Holy Eucharist which "binds the church together in love," the message said.

Private Life Personal?

Within the past two weeks, Democratic Rep. Robert Leggett, alleged to have had an affair with a congressional aide, responded that the situation involved his private life and had no bearing on his public life. Within the past week, Republican Rep. Frank Horton had the same kind of answer to his arrest for reckless driving, driving while intoxicated and speeding.

"I'm a private citizen and I have a private life. I'm also a public citizen and I have a public life. What's involved here is my private life," Ho.ton explained.

That has been a consistent pattern of Washington officials who have been caught in embarassing situations. They try to quiet the situation by drawing a line between their public and private lives, as though there were no relationship between the

Horton said he did nothing wrong as far as his constituency is concerned.

We beg to differ with him and others who have sought to escape responsibility through this route. The truth is that very few of us have lives that can be separated but an elected public official has even less of a chance of it.

What one does in his private life

definitely does affect him in his relationships with others. The overall moral character of an elected public official is a matter of concern on the part of his constituency, and properly so.

An elected public official may have the right to engage in unacceptable patterns of social behavior but he surely should expect to suffer the consequences of such action if it becomes known. That is precisely the thing that put the lid on any presidential aspirations that might have been held by Senator Ted Kennedy.

The fact is that voters expect their elected officials to lead an exemplary life and officials who fail to do so will be held accountable for it at the polls. When one chooses to enter public life, he knows that he is surrendering a large part of his

He knows that what a private citizen may do with relative impunity is not always the same for him. He knows that his private life and his public life are melted into one, in the minds of voters.

And in many cases, it is not much different in private business. The employe unprincipled in his private life is seldom favored in his business affairs or by his

Carter's Unpleasant Reminder

Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter's position on the use of nuclear weapons is not much different from that of other national figures. If the security of our nation or that of an ally were threatened, said Carter, the U.S. would have to consider the use of nuclear weapons.

The important thing is not so much Carter's position, but that such a possibility still exists in the world. That world would be far better off if the matter of using nuclear weapons were simply totally out of the question.

Further Carter words demonstrate the futility of nuclear warfare. Even the nation that struck the first nuclear blow, he reminded, would not escape the most devastating kind of retaliation.

Nuclear blows very plainly would spread death, human suffering and destruction of such magnitude that one cannot really quite comprehend it. And for that very reason, it is hard to comprehend that nations maintain this possibility in their military preparedness.

Carter's position on nuclear warfare is neither very revealing of anything nor especially new. It is simply an unfortunate element of life that a presidential candidate must have a position at all in the

Weekender Delights

Monday mornings in the office can be unique, depending upon conversation covering the past weekend. When the subject of weekend golf came up, one fellow said that he used to play in the low seven-

When it got hotter than that, he went on, he never left home.

Another office laborer wondered if 75 were a bad score. How many holes, asked a colleague. Just one, was the reply.

Some explanation was demanded, how could anyone shoot 75 on one hole? Very simple, this person couldn't find the hole.

After "doing whatever it is you do" to get the ball going (teeing off), the golfer (?) went in all directions in search of the first hole, which was never found. Finally, one more hole was played, the ninth, and no one in the office had the heart to ask how many strokes it required.

Egad, it's August.

In two weeks the Republicans will finally end their classic family fight of 1976. In four weeks, the last full month of summer will fade away, sharply narrowing your opportunities to make a fool of yourself at golf or tennis or whatever it is that you try to do.

Hang in there, August.

Baseball games will begin to take on some importance after months of sparring. Go, Yankers.

Football is coming - and if you don't believe it, check the magazine stands or your TV Guide. The count for GBR home fans is down to 54. If you're going to the tiger pit, make it 40. And the Olympics are now just four years away.

Among last week's gold medal performances was Ronald Reagan's effort in boomerangthrowing. Richard Schweiker probably earned one, too - for the best

Jimmy Carter deserves the already made in advance, that gold medal in the high hurdles although he would also be deadly on the high wire.

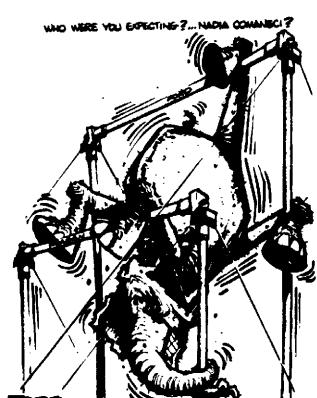

And it would appear that President Ford, after missing a few hurdles and splashing his way through the water obstacles, is finally going to win the GOP steenlechase.

☆ ☆ ☆ Fair and friendly criticism about our coverage of the Democratic national convention: too much detail about Nebraska delegates, too little in the way of impressions about the convention itself.

Backing up for a minute, let me try to fill in the void.

Viking Success Rates Our Cheers

WASHINGTON - All the troubles Planet Earth seemed reduced to trivia by the triumph of Viking I. It makes one American want to stand up and cheer for the fantastic knowledge that went into the exploration of Planet Mars 213,000,-000 miles away.

To me it seems more dramatic than walking on the moon. For here is a mechanical device with a nuclear power plant responding to the directions of earthlings attuned to every impulse of the fantastic machine they put together and launched on its year-long journey through Science fiction sounds nonsentical alongside the achievements of Viking and its masters. The business of the scoop to pick up Martian soil that get stuck and how it got unstuck was drama of the highest order. The pictures being sent back showed the technicians in the control center at Pasadena where a pin bad falles on the ground and they could make the adjustment so the 19-foot-long scoop would work as planned.

Yes, 213,000,000 miles away. Think of that, if you're like me quite unmechanical, trying to put a screw in a storm door or repair an unruly light

☆ ☆ ☆ A long time ago - it seems several aeons - Sherman Adams in the Eisenhower administration derided the idea of taking part in an outer space basketball game.

That was in 1957 when the world was thunderstruck by the first Sputnik the Soviets sent into orbit around the earth. The United States was caught unawares by this Russian first which exceeded in weight and orbital capacity a projected American satellite.

Whether there is life on Mars is irrelevant. The science fiction myth of those little people with green heads and long antennae will be dispelled. That Viking can analyze the Martian atmosphere and the Martian soil to determine whether life, of however low an order, exists or could ever have existed is the miracle.

Viking II is due to land on September 7. A more difficult and rocky terrain has been selected for exploration with the hope that a soft landing will be as successful as with the first Viking.

The cost of Vikings I and II is small compared to that of the moon walk. It comes out to an almost even $1 billion. This covers construction, launching and the analyses at Pasadena. Just by way of comparison the cost of a B-1 bomber is $87 million and the overall program is estimated at $22 billion.

The cost of a single Trident submarine is more than $1.5 billion, with an overall cost of $18.5 billion for the entire program. Trident, the most expensive weapon in the American arsenal, may be nudged out by the newest aircraft carrier, which is likely to come in at $2 billion plus without planes.

4 4 4 But money is hardly a measure of the science and technology, the dedicated effort of so many individuals, that went into the achievement of the Vikings. It is part of the genius of America that, for all the follies and mishaps of the past, is reason for pride on this 200th anniversary of nationhood.

If the troubles that plague Planet Earth can be contained, Viking I is proof that there are no limits to the discoveries that lie ahead. Of course there is life, and perhaps advanced life, on planets in the outer reaches of space still beyond the resources of earthlings. We are not alone. The performance of Viking and the potential for the future are one reason this is a thrilling moment in man's troubled history.

The troubles here on Planet Earth are certainly grave. The blind instinct of homo sapiens for the reckless destruction of his environment is a principal source of trouble. (Imagine if there were sentient beings on Mars or a nearby planet and they had sent their own Viking for a soft landing on, say, one of the industrial wastelands near New York City; the report on atmosphere and soil pollution would be devastating.) And the same science and technology that sent Viking to Mars has created a means of instant button-pushing destruction of all that is most treasured and, possibly, of human life itself.

While no one would give odds for the survival of Planet Earth for the next hundred years, today we can stand up and cheer for a superb triumph. It is proof that this science and technology put to peaceful use know no bounds.

NEW YORK - The average American carries three credit cards. The average Californian carries six. Walter Cavanagh is not average; he is the antithesis of average. He owns 797 different credit cards. And he carries only one.

"If I moved fast, I could charge a million dollars worth of stuff and services," says Walter. "That's how much unsecured credit my card collection represents."

But he can't move fast, because his briefcase crammed with potential credit weighs about 20 pounds, and he doesn't dare open it in public. "Even Lloyd's of London won't insure my credit cards." And if he wants to charge something say, at Abercrombie & Fitch in New York, or Harrod's in London - it could take him 15 or 20 minutes to locate the right charge card among the multitude.

"Besides," says Javanagh proudly, "I wouldn't want to do anything to spoil my perfect credit record. I always pay promptly. I never have had to pay a cent of interest on any of my charges.' **☆ ☆ ☆

Walter Cavanaugh is a rugged, boyishlooking pharmacist from Santa Clara, Calif., who began collecting credit cards four years ago when he was 28, and is now listed in the Guinness Book of World Records as the most "credit-able" man in the world.

Μ

"It all started," he says, "when I was sitting around one day with a friend and we were looking for something to make a bet on. We both had a few credit cards, and we decided to see who could collect the most charge-cards in a year. It was a perfectly logical thing." Walter then started running around to local stores, and sending away to the more exotic emporiums like Neiman-Marcus and Saks Fifth Avenue.

"It was kind of wild. I thought maybe I'd get 10 new credit cards but in three months I had more than 40," said Walter. By the end of the first year, he had a couple hundred, and easily won the bet: a dinner out, which his friend paid for in cash. ("Some of the finest restaurants don't accept credit cards.") * * *

The bet became a pastime, then a hobby, then an avocation, then - curiously a responsibility. He was afraid to carry them, because they might be lost or stolen. Walter's vast collection now is alternately stored in a safe deposit box and in Ripley's Believe-It-Or-Not Museum at Fisherman's Wharf, San Francisco, "It was Ripley's who tried to insure it, and was told by Lloyd's it would be impossible," said Walter. "Lloyd's said the law, which limits the liability of a credit card owner's loss to $50 a card, probably wouldn't apply in my case." If Cavanagh were ripped off, the loss would be financially lethal. On the other hand, his collection could be worth a fortune some day. "There are quite a few people," said Walter, "who collect credit cards because they foresee they will be collector's items on that (possibly) inevitable day when all these individual cards will be replaced by one 'major identification card' for

"When that comes, if it does, your paycheck will be deposited into your account and you'll never see it. In a supermarket or store, you will press your thumbprint into an electronic scanner, while at the same time another scanner will read the magnetic tape on the back of your credit card; the amount of your purchase will be instantaneously transmitted to your bank and removed from your account." A little scary? More than. "Aside from the chances of computer error, and the chances of human (salesperson, cashler) error, consider the amount of personal management and self-control that would be involved."

One impetuous overdraw - with one single credit card — could result in all credit being cut off to an individual. He couldn't even buy the groceries!

alone. It challenges Walter Canvaagh who realizes that, in spite of his record collection, he still has fewer than 10% of them all.

"But I'm working on it," be says cheerfully. "Right now, I have 600 applications waiting to be filled out, back home." It's the applications-filling that takes time. He comes home, tired from a long day at the pharmacy, and applies for new credit cards while watching TV and having dinner. It's tedious, but what else is there to do? He doesn't yet have a wife, and doesn't know if he ever will have one: "It would be a terrific temptation for any women, knowing there were 797 establishments where she could say 'charge it.' "

As mentioned earlier, except on rare occasions, Walter carries only one credit card - his first, the Diner's Club. "It covers most of my needs, and makes the check-writing a lot easier." And relieves him of the constant concern of having his credit lost or snatched. When he visits a department store or specialty shop, he usually can charge without having his card on his person: "It takes a few extra minutes, while the salesperson checks out the records, but it's worth it.'

No 'Messiah' Running For President_

Don't Look For A Messich

Lincoln, Neb. If Dewey Nemetz is looking for a messiah, he is looking in the wrong direction. The only persons seeking the presidency of this nation are politicians and even though they may have deep religious convictions, they must be politically oriented, seeking power and status, and having a highly efficient political organization if they hope to win.

A true messiah certainly would not have any of these attributes nor would be need any of them. He would be looking for a home in the hearts of men and not on Pennsylvania Avenue.

I would hope that the American people have not reached the point of absolute irresponsibility that they would be stampeded into electing a messiah figure as president, in the hope that he would painlessly and miraculously solve the daily problems of individuals, our nation and the world. If we have reached this point, it is time to ask this one question: Are we as individuals and as a nation ready to meet and answer to our

We have not remained a free nation by electing a messiah and neither has any other nation remained free by placing their entire destiny in the hands of one human being as their savior. The only national savior we need are the will power and selfdetermination to accept our responsibilities and with the guidance of the true power of the universe, solve our own problems. We will elect a very human president, with human liabilities. Let's not assign him any messianic powers that he does not have.

Very Happy Birthday

Wow, what a party this has been, this 200th birthday of America! Every state and most towns have spent many hours in preparation for floats for parades, old-time costumes, and all people have worked and played together as friends.

In relighting the Battle of Gettysburg, there was colorful action, with only one man burt when his horse stepped on him - a far cry from the original battle. The fireworks in New York harbor were a spectacular of bright colors as they showered the Statue of Liberty in starry brilliance — she stood there, proud

So many were involved in the harmony and fun. The most wonderful and beautiful part was the sight of thousa Boston's young people, choosing, clapping, some duncing to the orchestra conducted by the white-haired Mr. Arthur Fiedler, who won the hearts and minds of those young people, who begged for "more, more, more."

Wishes Of The People

Pickrell, Neb. The Lincoln Star recently carried a news article captioned: "De-sexing Laws Herculean Task," which indicated a legislative subcommittee had been formed and an attorney assigned to change our laws regarding reference to sexes.

This is what is done in states which have ratified the Equal Rights Amendment. Nebraska, however, has rescinded its ratification and thereby voted NO on the ERA. So why is our tax money now being used to change Nebraska laws to conform to ERA when Nebraska has said NO to it? Are the wishes of the people again being ignored? Shoving it down our throats seems to be the style today. Our federal government gives us abortion and forced busing while the Lincoln city and county governments prepare to slip metroregional government over on an unsuspecting and uninformed citizenry, and the Lincoln school system injects the deadly fumes of humanism into course after course without regard to what is moral or what the people wish.

How much will we citizens take of this before we demand an accounting from our tex-paid public servants?

Lincoln, Neb. I want personally and publicly to acknowledge Gene Mahoney, to tell about his lendership and experienced direction and the dedication he has made to others.

He has been a Boy Scout scoutmaster, an Eagle Scout, head of the South District Boy Scout Council. He has helped boys by the hundreds, counseled them, guided and helped them, gotten them jobs. He has been a policeman, a teacher, was in the service of his country.

He is a good churchman and the sole support for his mother. He is a master at politics and has an ability to get along with anybody.

He is probably the best organiser I have ever met. I per-sonally had the privilege for many years on a daily basis of riding with him to Lincoln, many times disagreeing with him. He has done things for Omaha no mun has ever done. He was a state sensior who served with respect and served his state well. To those who have been critical of them, let them match just a part of what I have mentioned.

Private Life Personal?

Within the past two weeks, Democratic Rep. Robert Leggett, alleged to have had an affair with a congressional aide, responded that the situation involved his private life and had no bearing on his public life. Within the past week, Republican Rep. Frank Horton had the same kind of answer to his arrest for reckless driving, driving while intoxicated and speeding.

"I'm a private citizen and I have a private life. I'm also a public citizen and I have a public life. What's involved here is my private life," Horton explained.

That has been a consistent pattern of Washington officials who have been caught in embarassing situations. They try to quiet the situation by drawing a line between their public and private lives, as though there were no relationship between the

Horton said he did nothing wrong as far as his constituency is concerned.

We beg to differ with him and others who have sought to escape responsibility through this route. The truth is that very few of us have lives that can be separated but an elected public official has even less of a chance of it.

What one does in his private life

definitely does affect him in his relationships with others. The overall moral character of an elected public official is a matter of concern on the part of his constituency, and properly so.

An elected public official may have the right to engage in unacceptable patterns of social behavior but he surely should expect to suffer the consequences of such action if it becomes known. That is precisely the thing that put the lid on any presidential aspirations that might have been held by Senator Ted Kennedy.

The fact is that voters expect their elected officials to lead an exemplary life and officials who fail to do so will be held accountable for it at the polls. When one chooses to enter public life, he knows that he is surrendering a large part of his

He knows that what a private citizen may do with relative impunity is not always the same for him. He knows that his private life and his public life are melted into one, in the minds of voters.

And in many cases, it is not much different in private business. The employe unprincipled in his private life is seldom favored in his business affairs or by his

Viking Success Rates Our Cheers

WASHINGTON - All the troubles Planet Earth seemed reduced to trivia by the triumph of Viking I. It makes one American want to stand up and cheer for the fantastic knowledge that went into the exploration of Planet Mars 213,000,-000 miles away.

To me it seems more dramatic than walking on the moon. For here is a mechanical device with a nuclear power plant responding to the directions of earthlings attuned to every impulse of the fantastic machine they put together and launched on its year-long journey through Science fiction sounds nonsensical alongside the achievements of Viking and its masters. The business of the scoop to pick up Martian soil that got stuck and how it got unstuck was drama of the highest order. The pictures being sent back showed the technicians in the control center at Pasadena where a pin had fallen on the ground and they could make the adjustment so the 10-foot-long scoop would work as planned.

Yes, 213,000,000 miles away. Think of that, if you're like me quite unmechanical, trying to put a screw in a storm door or repair an unruly light

* * * A long time ago - it seems several aeons - Sherman Adams in the Eisenhower administration derided the idea of taking part in an outer space basketball game.

That was in 1957 when the world was thunderstruck by the first Sputnik the Soviets sent into orbit around the earth. The United States was caught unawares

by this Russian first which exceeded in weight and orbital capacity a projected American satellite.

Whether there is life on Mars is irrelevant. The science fiction myth of those little people with green heads and long antennae will be dispelled. That Viking can analyze the Martian atmosphere and the Martian soil to determine whether life, of however low an order, exists or could ever have existed is the miracle.

Viking II is due to land on September 7. A more difficult and rocky terrain has been selected for exploration with the hope that a soft landing will be as successful as with the first Viking.

The cost of Vikings I and II is small

compared to that of the moon walk. It comes out to an almost even $1 billion. This covers construction, launching and the analyses at Pasadena. Just by way of comparison the cost of a B-1 bomber is $87 million and the overall program is estimated at $22 billion.

The cost of a single Trident submarine is more than $1.5 billion, with an overall cost of $18.5 billion for the entire program. Trident, the most expensive weapon in the American arsenal, may be nudged out by the newest aircraft carrier, which is likely to come in at $2 billion plus without planes.

* * * But money is hardly a measure of the science and technology, the dedicated effort of so many individuals, that went into the achievement of the Vikings. It is part of the genius of America that, for all the follies and mishaps of the past, is reason for pride on this 200th anniversary of

If the troubles that plague Planet Earth can be contained, Viking I is proof that there are no limits to the discoveries that lie ahead. Of course there is life, and perhaps advanced life, on planets in the outer reaches of space still beyond the resources of earthlings. We are not alone. The performance of Viking and the potential for the future are one reason this is a thrilling moment in man's troubled history.

The troubles here on Planet Earth are certainly grave. The blind instinct of homo sapiens for the reckless destruction of his environment is a principal source of trouble. (Imagine if there were sentient beings on Mars or a nearby planet and they had sent their own Viking for a soft landing on, say, one of the industrial wastelands near New York City; the report on atmosphere and soil pollution would be devastating.) And the same science and technology that sent Viking to Mars has created a means of instant button-pushing destruction of all that is most treasured and, possibly, of human

While no one would give odds for the survival of Planet Earth for the next hundred years, today we can stand up and cheer for a superb triumph. It is proof that this science and technology put to peaceful use know no bounds.

Carter's Unpleasant Reminder

Weekender Delights

Democratic presidential nominee Jimmy Carter's position on the use of nuclear weapons is not much different from that of other national figures. If the security of our nation or that of an ally were threatened, said Carter, the U.S. would have to consider the use of nuclear weapons.

The important thing is not so much Carter's position, but that such a possibility still exists in the world. That world would be far better off if the matter of using nuclear weapons were simply totally out of the question.

Further Carter words demonstrate the futility of nuclear warfare. Even the nation

Nuclear blows very plainly would spread death, human suffering and destruction of such magnitude that one cannot really quite comprehend it. And for that very reason, it is hard to comprehend that nations maintain this possibility in their military preparedness.

Carter's position on nuclear warfare is neither very revealing of anything nor especially new. It is simply an unfortunate element of life that a presidential candidate must have a position at all in the

Woods' Employe Says He May Have Alibi For Him

CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) - A man who worked for Frederick N. Woods says he may be able to furnish his boss an alibi for the day authorities say Woods helped kidnap a busload of school childen.

Craig Hunt, 18, told the San Francisco Examiner that Woods was at his parents' sprawling San Francisco Peninsula estate between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. on July 15 - the day 26 Chowchilla children and their bus driver

The bus was commandered about 4 p.m. near this farming community, which is between three and four hours by car from Woods' home in Por-

"I saw Fred Thursday (July 15) and there was not a thing different about him, not a thing, nothing," said Hunt, a mechanic who worked with Woods repairing old cars, in an interview published in Sunday's Examiner.

Authorities had no immediate comment on the possible alibi.

Hunt said in the interview he has been questioned by investigators and he believes they are changing their minds about the number of

"I think they realize there are more people involved in it," he said.

Woods, James Schoenfeld, 24, and Schoenfeld's 22-year-old brother, Richard, are charged in the kidnaping. Bail was set at $1 million each.

Alameda County Sheriff Tom Houchins said there is no search for additional suspects at this time. But he conceded there are discrepancies between the three men in custody and profiles of the kidnapers provided by witnesses.

The kidnap victims said at least one suspect had a tattoo; none of those now in jail have tattoos.

tors as a gray heired man in his 50s; the three defendants are under 25.

The kidnaped children and bus driver were entombed in an Alameda County rock quarry owned by Woods' father. They pried their way out of a buried moving van after 18 hours.

Woods, 24, was arrested July 29 in Vancouver, Canada, and was flown to Secramento July. 30. Houchins said he expects Woods to be brought to Alameda County on Monday where the Schoenfeld brothers are being held.

Richard Schoenfeld surrendered July 23 and his brother was captured July 29 near his home in Atherton, a wealthy suburb of San Francisco. The elder Schoenfeld's attorney said his client had returned to California to surrender after two aborted attempts at entering Canada.

The FBI said Woods' arrest at a Vancouver post office was based on a tip from the bureau's San Francisco office. Sources close to the investiga-tion said the FBI had under surveillance the phone and mail of a Palo Alto woman. Woods called the woman, asking her to send him a package. When he appeared at the post office, he was seized by Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The San Jose Mercury-News said Saturday it had received an anonymous typed letter from a self-proclaimed friend of two of the kidnap defendants. The letter claimed the kidnapers planned to demand ransom from the FBI and CIA. The FBI had no comment on the letter.

Published reports have said a rough draft of a $5 million ransom note and a scrawled list of the kidnap victims were found when deputies searched the Woods estate July 21. Authorities have not commented on the reports.

"I think they realize there are more people involved in it," he said.

Woods, James Schoenfeld, 24, and Schoenfeld's 22-year-old brother, Richard, are charged in the kidnaping. Bail was set at $1 million each.

Alameda County Sheriff Tom Houchins said

there is no search for additional suspects at this time. But he conceded there are discrepancies between the three men in custody and profiles of the kidnapers provided by witnesses.

The kidnap victims said at least one suspect had a tattoo; none of those now in jail have tattoos.

tors as a gray haired man in his 50s; the three defendants are under 25.

The kidnaped children and bus driver were entombed in an Alameda County rock quarry owned by Woods' father. They pried their way out of a buried moving van after 18 hours.

Woods, 24, was arrested July 29 in Vancouver, Canada, and was flown to Sacramento July 30. Houchins said he expects Woods to be brought to Alameda County on Monday where the Schoenfeld brothers are being held.

Richard Schoenfeld surrendered July 23 and his brother was captured July 29 near his home in Atherton, a wealthy suburb of San Francisco. The elder Schoenfeld's attorney said his client had returned to California to surrender after two aborted attempts at entering Canada.

The FBI said Woods' arrest at a Vancouver post office was based on a tip from the bureau's San Francisco office. Sources close to the investiga-tion said the FBI had under surveillance the phone and mail of a Palo Alto woman. Woods called the woman, asking her to send him a package. When he appeared at the post office, he was seized by Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The San Jose Mercury-News said Saturday it had received an anonymous typed letter from a self-proclaimed friend of two of the kidnap defendants. The letter claimed the kidnapers planned to demand ransom from the FBI and CIA.

The FBI had no comment on the letter.

Published reports have said a rough draft of a $5 million ransom note and a scrawled list of the kidnap victims were found when deputies searched the Woods estate July 21. Authorities have not commented on the reports.

Obstacles Snag Farm Invention

Outstate Nebraska Bureau Laurel — William Mohr says he's invented a machine that can save millions of bushels of downed crops, but unfortunately no one has invented a way to break the tangle of today's complex economics.

It all began about 18 years ago when a heavy wind left all of the 59-year-old Laurel farmer's mulo flat in his fields

"You could get it up off the ground, but the shatter when it hit the blade would leave most of the grain on the ground," he said

So three years ago he completed his long-thought-out design for a hydraulically powered screw system, for which he holds a patent, that can be adopted to any combine.

The bladed screw, which can be adjusted to any row width, gently pulls the grain to the sickle of the combine with little shattering of the grain's head.

There are other machines on the market that use belts or teeth to do similar jobs, but Mohr says hydraulics eliminate obstacles at the sickle, which can cause clogging and shattering

Theoretically, the system can be adapted for use on crops ranging from sunflowers to soybeans, he added.

But Mohr says he has hit mile this year.

manufacturers, who are reluctant to replace similar machines already in production, and from the "data crazy" money lenders.

"If you go for a loan," he said. "they want figures on how many you sold last year and what your potential market is the next

Mohr has motion pictures of the machine in operation, apparently doing an effective job.

"With the number of people starving in the world and the grain that falls on the ground every year," he said "All I know is that this should be on the

Mohr invested $3,000 of his own money on the prototype, which now sits idly on his farm.

When I was testing it three years ago, I helped a guy get 94 bushels to the acre," he said. "People aren't planting milo here anymore, but he called back and said he'd plant it if I'd combine it."

The satisfaction of building the machine is a reward in itself, he said, but he has asked state congressmen to help him make it available to everyone.

"I've fought this thing so long. I don't know what I want for myself," he said. "All I know is I could save 100 million acres of HYDRAULICS . . . are key to Mohr's machine, which he believes could save millions of crop bushels.

Produce Shortages Hit Soviets

Moscow (UPI)' - Soviet Georgia is suffering major shortages of fruits and vegetables this year, according to official reports reaching Moscow Sun-

Production figures for the first half of 1976 published in the newspaper Zarya Vostoka suggested the shortfall may not only affect Georgia, one of the Soviet Union's richest agricultural regions, but surrounding areas as well.

Western agricultural officials said it was too early to determine if the shortages would be made up later in the year. Whatever happens, the poor output is already being felt in the marketplace.

The newspaper said sales of potatoes - a mainstay of the diet - were down 61 per cent from the level reported at the end of the first six months of 1975

Vegetable sales were down 40 per cent and fruits were being sold at a rate 34 per cent lower than in the previous year, Zarya Vostoka said.

Officials of the Southern Republic had warned that spring planting had been seriously hampered by an unusually late winter, with snow covering reaching six and a half feet.

Meat and diary production were not apparently affected adversely by the weather and officials reported higher output for meat, milk and eggs.

Spotlight on Agriculture

By DOMINICK COSTELLO Farm Editor

If you noticed something strange about the peaches you bought this year, it was the fuzz. Those fuzzy peaches aren't fuzzy any more, they've been circulated through water and scrubbed with special brushes to remove the traditional hair

It makes a person wonder if anyone asked consumers wildlife or livestock. Or perhaps whether they really wanted a naked peach

The National Association of Wheat Growers is suggesting that wheat producers take it easy when it comes to increasing the acreage to be planted with the bread grain this fall.

Worldwide wheat stocks have been creeping up - which wornes producers everywhere. As costs of machinery and fuel increase, the farmer has to have more for wheat or face economic disaster

Up to 40% of the wheat crop in France may be lost due to dry weather Recent rains were too

Even with this European exist in the county outside the problem, world wheat reserves are likely to build enough to lower prices; discouraging farmers around the world from growing wheat.

People who allow their does to run loose or dump them in the country don't seem to know the extent of damage they do to they simply don't care. One frustrated farm wife asked if I could discuss the subject in a column. It seems she and her husband spent the better part of a day rounding up cattle run away by dogs, and another day repairing fence and doctoring injured cattle. These people, as most farmers, hate to shoot a dog. But, in every case, there is little else that can be done.

Stray dogs are next to impossible to capture alive.

This is one factor in the arguments over pet control that the City Council never got into. If we do get city-county government into a single operation, this httle and too late for most of the will be a problem that they must solve if animal agriculture is to city limits

The greenbelt of farmland around the city — that some people will say is needed - will be difficult to maintain if this and other people-farm conflicts are allowed to develop.

☆ ☆ ☆ There is a great untold story in Nebraska about its irrigation. Many little towns that once sported a livery stable and a saloon as a business district are now booming with irrigation equipment stores, implement dealers, elevators, increased housing, grocery stores and

and producing products used throughout the world.

While much of this is there because of irrigation development, there is another side to the story we had better wake up Irrigation development is fine, but unless we start conserving water-managing it may be a better term—the economists tell us that in some areas irrigation may be too expensive The possibility that the boom could become a bust is all too real. Increasing fuel costs, declining water tables, cost of equipment, an uncertain grain market and wildly escalating land prices are making farming less profitable We can grow top quality, high yield crops with half the water

Ironically, the fund "is the only World Food Conference initiative that has gotten off the ground at all," John Hannah, executive director of the Romebased council, said in a recent interview According to documents prepared for the second annual meeting of the council in June, "there has been no significant progress" on what Hannah calls the most important food issue, the evolution of a dependable system of food security and food reserves.

Little action has been taken on any of the council's three recommended food security measures the establishment of an international reserve of 500,000 tons for emergencies, the earmarking of a fixed portion of the stocks of major grain producers for food aid (to better assure and continuity) or the building of a stockpile of 15 million to 20 million tons of grain to stabilize world grain

Obstacles Snag Farm Invention

Outstate Nebraska Bureau Laurel - William Mohr says he's invented a machine that can save millions of bushels of downed crops, but unfortunately no one has invented a way to break the tangle of today's complex economics

It all began about 18 years ago when a heavy wind left all of the 59-year-old Laurel farmer's milo flat in his fields.

"You could get it up off the ground, but the shatter when it hit the blade would leave most of the grain on the ground," he

So three years ago he completed his long-thought-out design for a hydraulically powered screw system, for which he holds a patent, that can be adopted to any combine. The bladed screw, which can be adjusted to any row width, gently pulls the grain to the sickle of the combine with little shattering of the grain's head. There are other machines on the market that use belts or teeth to do similar jobs, but Mohr says hydraulics eliminate obstacles at the sickle, which can cause clogging and shattering. Theoretically, the system can be adapted for use on crops ranging from sunflowers to soybeans, he added. But Mohr says he has hit milo this year.'

manufacturers, who are reluctant to replace similar machines already in production, and from the "data crazy" money lenders.

"If you go for a loan," he said, "they want figures on how many you sold last year and what your potential market is the next

Mohr has motion pictures of the machine in operation, apparently doing an effective job.

With the number of people starving in the world and the grain that falls on the ground every year," he said. "All I know is that this should be on the market." Mohr invested $3,000 of his own money on the prototype, which now sits idly on his farm.

"When I was testing it three years ago, I helped a guy get 94 bushels to the acre," he said. "People aren't planting milo here anymore, but he called back and said he'd plant it if I'd combine it."

The satisfaction of building the machine is a reward in itself, he said, but he has asked state congressmen to help him make it available to everyone.

"I've fought this thing so long, I don't know what I want for myself," he said. "All I know is I could save 100 million acres of

Shortages Hit Soviets Moscow (UPI) - Soviet

Produce

Georgia is suffering major shortages of fruits and vegetables this year, according to official reports reaching Moscow Sun-

Production figures for the first half of 1976 published in the newspaper Zarya Vostoka suggested the shortfall may not only affect Georgia, one of the Soviet Union's richest agricultural regions, but surrounding areas as well. Western agricultural officials said it was too early to determine if the shortages would be made up later in the year. Whatever happens, the poor output is already being felt in the marketplace.

The newspaper said sales of potatoes - a mainstay of the diet - were down 61 per cent from the level reported at the end of the first six months of

Vegetable sales were down 40 per cent and fruits were being sold at a rate 34 per cent lower than in the previous year, Zarya Vostoka said

Officials of the Southern Republic had warned that spring planting had been seriously hampered by an unusually late winter, with snow covering reaching six and a half feet.

Meat and diary production were not apparently affected adversely by the weather and officials reported higher output for meat, milk and eggs.

If you noticed something strange about the peaches you bought this year, it was the fuzz. Those fuzzy peaches aren't fuzzy any more; they've been circulated through water and scrubbed with special brushes to remove the traditional hair.

It makes a person wonder if anyone asked consumers whether they really wanted a naked peach.

☆ ☆ ☆ The National Association of Wheat Growers is suggesting that wheat producers take it easy when it comes to increasing the acreage to be planted with the bread grain this fall.

☆ ☆ ☆ People who allow their dogs to run loose or dump them in the country don't seem to know the extent of damage they do to wildlife or livestock. Or perhaps they simply don't care.

One frustrated farm wife asked if I could discuss the subject in a column. It seems she and her husband spent the better part of a day rounding up cattle run away by dogs, and another day repairing fence and doctoring injured cattle.

These people, as most farmers, hate to shoot a dog. But, in every case, there is little else that can be done.

Stray dogs are next to impossible to capture alive.

The greenbelt of farmland around the city - that some people will say is needed - will be difficult to maintain if this and other people-farm conflicts are allowed to develop.

☆ ☆ ☆ There is a great untold story in Nebraska about its irrigation. Many little towns that once sported a livery stable and a saloon as a business district are now booming with irrigation equipment stores, implement dealers, elevators, increased housing, grocery stores and other business establishments.

These jobs, firms, businesses and homes are a direct result of irrigation. They make an important addition to the state's tax coffers on sales and income, and pay for local schools that create more jobs in outstate areas of Nebraska. If you haven't looked over the Platte Valley west of Lincoln, you don't realize what is happening. Nebraska is moving There are people out there and producing products used throughout the world.

While much of this is there because of irrigation development; there is another side to the story we had better wake up

Irrigation development is fine, but unless we start conserving water-managing it may be a better term-the economists tell us that in some areas irrigation may be too expensive.

The possibility that the boom could become a bust is all too real. Increasing fuel costs, declining water tables, cost of equipment, an uncertain grain market and wildly escalating land prices are making farming less profitable.

We can grow top quality, high yield crops with half the water some farmers use. We allow water to be wasted on farms and allow it to leave the state unused while other areas are in desperate need to recharge underground supplies.

Water management needs to be emphasized or we will see a halt to irrigation development and a decline in our state Omaha (AP) — Five spokesmen for the black community in Omaha said Saturday night they agreed that the Ku Klux Klan presents no real threat to integration of the city's public schools.

They commented at a news conference as Bill Wilkinson, imperial wizard of the Ku Klux Klan, conducted a program at Memorial Park.

State Sen. Ernest Chambers said "as far as this one nutty individual coming from Louisiana . . . he can't say anything I haven't heard President Ford, Mayor Zorinsky, Rep. McCollister, Supt. Owen Knutzen or School Board Chairman John Barnhart say before."

The Rev. John R. Williams, pastor of the church where the news conference was held, said its purpose was to discuss "the intrusion of the klan into our community."

Others commenting were Jackson Graham, chairman of the newly formed League for Progressive Voting; Tommy Bahks, chairman of Omaha's Young Black Democrats, and Lawrence McVoy, president of the local chapter of the National Association for the Advancement of

The Rev. Mr. Williams said he believed he could speak for all churches in the black community regarding the Ku Klux Klan. He said his church "is opposed to those disruptive elements that would tear down the community.'

He called the klan sinful, and said "all of us are hurting - the black and white communities both. Unless we hang together. we hang apart."
Graham said "we black Omahans are governed without representation. I am calling for blacks to develop community unity." Referring to Wilkinson, Banks said: "I feel that an individual of this nature was here to problem here in Omaha the same as they were in Boston and Louisville. We can't allow outsiders to enter our community and corrupt it."

McVov said the NAACP chapters's board of directors met and decided that "the klan, if we make an issue out of it, will get the publicity they wish; if we ignore them, they will die on the vine.

It was announced at the news conference that a rally for community unity is planned Aug. 14 "to counteract the influence of antibusing forces and the appearance of the KKK in our city . . . and to concentrate on voter registration.

Big Thompson Flood Second In 15 Years flooding may have been 1928, when 1,636 died in flooding By The Associated Press

The flood that killed at least 55 people this weekend in a Rocky Mountains recreational area was one of the worst in recent years and was the second devastating flood to hit Big Thompson Valley in 15 years.

In 1962, 67 died in a flood in the same area, according to Sheriff Robert Watson of Larimer County.

Neither flood came near the record for loss of life in a flood in the United States. The Great Johnstown Flood of 1889 killed more than 2,000, a tragic record that has stood the test of time.

In 1972, three major floods killed almost 500 people. The first killed 118 and left 4,000 homeless when a dam broke in Buffalo Creek Hollow, a coal area in West Virginia.

June of 1972 was one of the worst months for flooding in the nation's history. On June 9, two dams burst in South Dakota, and the result was more than 240 dead in Rapid City. Less than two weeks later, Hurricane Agnes devastated the south and east coast, killing more than 100 people and causing a record $1.5 billion in damages.

Taxes Will Rise If Budget Okayed the year under the county's personnel plan. 000; Lancaster Manor and manor power

By NANCY HICKS Star Staff Writer

Lancaster County taxpayers will be forking over 11% more money to help run county government this year if county commissioners adopt the proposed budget in mid-August.

The proposed budget for the nearly 40 county agencies is 13.297 mills. That is 1.302 mills above last year's 11.995 levy. For the taxpayer who lives in a home valued at $36,000, this is an increase in taxes of $16.40 this year. One mill equals $1 per $1,000 of assessed property value, with property assessed at 35% of the apprais assessed value of the $36,000 home is $12,-

Under the 11,995 levy last year, this property owner paid $151.14 in taxes to county government. Under this year's 13.297 levy he will pay $167.54. And next year, if commissioners go up to the 14.285 mill levy ceiling which they expect will be necessary, the owner of the $36,000 home will be paying $179.99 in county property tax. The total departmental budgets contain few new employes, but commissioners have built in a possible 5% cost of living increase for county employes.

No official decision has been made on cost of living raises. Most county employes also receive 5% merit pay increases during

The budget proposal is much less than the total requests by each department head. Commissioners have spent the past month cutting requests and working to get the mill levy down to at least one mill below the 14.285 maximum.

The total mill levy includes the following funds: general fund, 6.662 mills; relief fund, 206 mills; medical fund, 1.563 mills; veteran's aid, .084 mills; bridge and special roads, 2.148 mills; weed control, .079 mills; institution fund, 309 mills; courthouse fund, .265 mills, Lancaster Manor fund. 1.651 mills and Attention Center, .310 mills.

In the final stages of budget preparation, commissioners moved some items out of departmental budgets and into the federal revenue sharing budget, thus reducing the levy even more. The $2.5 million revenue sharing budget includes almost $2 million for human service programs and operations. Within that $2 million, about $360,000 will go to private county human service agencies such as Goodwill, the Indian Center and the Youth Service System. The rest will go to human service agencies directly controlled by the commissioners. The revenue sharing budget is dis-

Big Thompson Flood Second In 15 Years

By The Associated Press

The flood that killed at least 55 people this weekend in a Rocky Mountains recreational area was one of the worst in recent years and was the second devastating flood to hit Big Thompson Valley in 15 years. In 1962, 67 died in a flood in the same area, according to Sheriff Robert Watson of Larimer County.

Neither flood came near the record for loss of life in a flood in the United States. The Great Johnstown Flood of 1889 killed more than 2,000, a tragic record that has stood the test of time.

In 1972, three major floods killed almost 500 people. The first killed 118 and left 4,000 homeless when a dam broke in Buffalo Creek Hollow, a coal area in West Virginia.

June of 1972 was one of the worst months for flooding in the nation's history. On June 9, two dams burst in South Dakota, and the result was more than 240 dead in Rapid City. Less than two weeks later, Hurricane Agnes devastated the south and east coast, killing more than 100 people and causing a record $1.5 billion in damages.

Collecting Avons extends beyond the fancy decanters or figurines — it includes plain bottles, old compacts, soaps, samples and even the Avon catalog books which are usually left by salespeople each time they call.

Of course, some of the older items are the most valuable, but containers of some of the ordinary every-day products may also be valuable along with boxed soaps or children's molded soap items.

One box of guest soap, which sold for less than $3 in the late 50s, is now valued at $18, according to Bud Hastin, who prepares the Avon Encyclopedia first published in 1970.

Nancy believes her oldest Avon is a "Golden Promise" talcum powder box of 1947 vintage which is now valued at about $18.

Even samples of products gain in value. For example, a small sample of men's after-shave lotion which was passed out free to customers by Avon ladies in the early '60s is now valued at

Nancy says she is even collecting duplicates of Avons she already has with the hope of exchanging with other Avon and catalogues it with its original current market value.

She has spent $6.97 on duplicates which have a total market value of $87.25.

She notes that many of the collectibles she has have not increased in market value but are valuable to her as an Avon collector, just as any collection is valuable to the collector.

What do-you do with 365 bottles, jars, boxes, decanters, soaps, compacts, etc.?

Well, if you want to display them, like any hobby, you need shelf space.

Nancy has one bedroom wall lined with shelves of Avon collectibles. And the shelves, which appear to be built-in since they match the woodwork, are actually recycled nursery fur-

New on the market is a portable hydro-massage tub, a total 'plug-in' package which provides for low-cost, do-it-yourself installation without necessitating any added plumbing.

Shaped like an old-fashioned bath tub, the spa takes on an Early American or rustic look with its varnished mahogany exterior and metal trim.

The low-maintenance hydro-therapy spa, which has built-in seats at either end, features more than 60 powerful air jets strategically positioned throughout the tub to provide millions of warm bursting bubbles to massage and stimulate the body.

According to Dale Hermsmeyer of Hermsmeyer Pool Co., the unit is available for about $1,400 and requires only a 200-volt hookup to install in any existing room in a house, apartment or new Requiring the 200-volt outlet is a heavy duty commercial air pump which is housed within a clothes hamper-like cabinet of

Filled with a garden hose, the portable unit need not be refilled with each use since it is not intended for bathing.

Hermsmeyer said it is a "natural" for apartment or rental property dwellers since it can be moved with the occupants; but some Lincoln homeowners are using the unit in conjunction with a sauna in addition to their homes.

The unit, which is six feet long, three feet wide and two feet, 10 inches high, can be installed easily in a 10-by-12 foot room.

And with the current plant craze, the spa and sauna addition frequently features a glass roof which will double as a relaxation and fun center. A green house with the spa provides the necessary humidity for successful plant raising.

According to Hermsmeyer, the unit may eventually be available in other decorator styles and colors to suit individual

The nova cut is adaptable for different facial structures, because it emphasizes options of some extra fullness in the front aren over the forehead or in the back area above the nape. Choice of emphasis depends on the particular facial structure and the individual personality of the woman involved, McCaig notes.

Extra length in the front provides wave or curl action for soft facial accents. The extra length in the back, below the crown pulls hair away from the face for today's reli-numered woman who feels she has under handle oor copyright WEP

Additional versatility is available through perming. A curled nova cut still provides a tailored effect that accents facial lines. The hair can be permed before or after the cut, depending on the length of hair.

According to McCaig, since it takes some young women adjustment time to switch from waist-length hair to a short, tapered neckline, the NHCA is also presenting a mid-length (above the shoulders) hairtashion for fall.

The mid-length style features over-thebrow emphasis to balance extra, sweeping volume at the back of the head. The extra volume in the back is easily maintained on both the short nova cut and the mid-length cut as a result of professional, long-holding body perms.

In The End, West Was Not Best

MONTREAL (UPI) - And so, for another four years, they are over.

The Olympics ended Sunday, again having proved the world's athletes can overcome political controversy and petty bickering to display their awesome talents and perform incredible feats.

It should not be a surprise that they can do this. By now, they are used to it.

Whenever and wherever the nations of the world get together for their quadrennial festival of fun and games, political considerations enter. This year, because they did not like the politics of some others, 30 countries wound up quitting these Games, which originally were designed to bring the world closer together.

For a time before the Olympics began two weeks ago -following years of in-fighting in Montreal and Canada about whether the cost, which eventually ran to $1.5 billion, nearly five times the original estimate, was worth it—there was some doubt they would even be held.

problems and all the troubles and talked about the athletic wizardry that dominated the Olympics between the Taiwan controversy at the beginning and the Russian controversy at the end. Unfortunately for the United States, this year, for the first time in history, none of the big heroes were Americans. Some of the U.S. athletes did stand out, like swimmer John Naber, a winner of four gold medals, but the athletes people were talking the most about the last two weeks all came from somewhere else.

They were: -Nadia Comaneci, the little 14-year-old daughter of a poor machinist from

Romania, who dazzled judges with her routines, became the first "perfect" gymnast in Olympic history, and won three gold

-Kornelia Ender, the 17-year-old daughter of an East German army officer who won four swimming gold medals, matching the most ever by a woman in the Olympics, and at the end held a tearful reunion with a grandmother who had defected to the United States when Kornelia was

-Alberto Juantorena and Teofilo Stevenson, "el caballo" and "el toro," the two swift, strong Cubans who both won unprecedented victories. Juantorena became the first man to win the 400 and 800 meter runs in the same Olympics, Stevenson-with four straight knockouts became the first heavyweight boxing champion to defend his title.

-And Lasse Viren, a 27-year-old policeman from Finland whose training regimen includes 15 miles of running a day and large doses of reindeer milk, became the first man to win both the 5,000 and 10,000 meter runs in two different Olympics.

Despite all of this, however, the Olympics were not a debacle for the United States, and for that, thanks go to the haskethall team, the men swimmers, and the boxers.

Americans won 34 gold medals and 94 total medals, which is exactly one more of both than they took home from Munich four years ago. There also were 35 silver and 25 bronze medals. Once again, the Soviet Union had more than anyone else, 47 gold, 43 silver and 35 bronze, 2 total 125. East Germany was second in gold medals with 49 but third in total with 90.

The most emotional and, to people in the United States, most important of all the American victories, came in basketball. The U.S., cheuted out of a gold medal four years ago in Munich when officials gave the Soviet Union a second, and then a third, chance to play the final three seconds, had only one difficult game, oddly enough against Puerto Rico, whose star was Butch Lee, who plays for Marquette

In the final, Adrian Dantley scored 30 points to help the U.S. defeat Yugoslavia 95-74 for the title. And the Americans had the satisfaction that one of the men helping hand out their gold medals was William Jones, secretary-general of the International Amateur Basketball Association and the man who made the rulings that gave Russia the gold in 1972.

Twelve of the 13 men's swimming events were won by Americans, all but one there was no Mark Spitz, Naber coming closest by winning both backstrokes and swimming on two wirming relay teams.

The boxing successes tied a U.S. record, set when the Americans won five titles in 1952 at Helsinki. This year a pair of ferocious brothers, Michael and Leon Spinks of St. Louis, led the way, and both scored knockouts in the finals. Leo Randolph, Howard Davis and Ray Leonard also

Track and field, however, the traditional focal point of the Olympics, was a disaster. The U.S. won only four individual gold medals in 21 events, Mac Wilkins in the discus, Edwin Moses in the 400-meter hurdles, Arnie Robinson in the long jump and Bruce Jenner in the decathlon.

Robinson blamed the poor showing on a lack of government support—as opposed to the state-supported athletes in Iron Curtain countries who won most of the other

'We cannot compete with the pros," Robinson said. "Unless the government these other countries."

Some of the Communist countries, however, had their problems, too, particularly the Russians. Even though they won more medals than anybody else, the Soviets stumbled through one embarrassing moment after another in these games -- both on and off the fields of com-

Off the field, the Soviets officially mocked the first dispute that threatened the Games. When Taiwan threatened to quit and then did, because the Canadian government would not let it use the official International Olympic Committee name, "Republic of China," the Russians proclaimed that other nations, particularly the United States, were exaggerating the whole problem. The Soviets said nothing could move them to quit the Olympics, and they said there would be no such problems in 1980 when the Games are held in Moscow. Before long, however, 29 other

Generally, team standings are based on gold medals, which would give the Germans the runnerup position. And, although the U.S. did win more medals, this can't really be a point of pride inasmuch as East, Germany is a country approximately the size of Ohio with a population of 17 million people.

Philip O. Krumm, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, pointed out Sunday that East Germany spends $50 million a year on team development to only $1 million for the U.S.

"I don't think there is any problem money wouldn't we have in Montreal." said Krumm, who added the U.S. could return to Soviet Union Olympic domination if it was willing to spend $25 million a year on development. "We would like government belp, but not government direction." For the Americans, their performance here marked a virtual standstill since the Munich Olympics, when they took home 33 gold and 93 total medals. East Germany, which didn't even compete as an entity in the Olympics until 1968, bad 20 gold and 66 medals four years of the 34 American gold medals, exactly half were achieved by the men swimmers, who incredibly won 12 of the 13 events, and by the boxers, with their championships in five of the 11 categories. In addition, the men swimmers were responsible for 27 of the 94 total medals. About the only other major ac-

For the second consecutive Olympics, the American women went without a single victory.

> However disappointing the results here, the Americans will be hard pressed to match these achievements in the 1980 Games at Moscow. As explained by Robert Kane, first vice president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, "The rest of the world is catching up with us. It's that simple."

And in words just as easy to understand, Arnie Robinson, the long jump gold medalist, said, "If the government doesn't step in and help us, we won't win half the medals in 1980 that

CHAMPION SIG GARNETT . . . returns shot against Bill Roach (right) in Sunday's title match.

Game' Sparks Garnett joined with Audrey Kirschenbaum to win

By RYLY JANE HAMBLETON Star Sports Writer

It was Sig Garnett's "old game" that helped him defend his title in men's open singles Sunday in the Lincoln Adult Open at Woods Tennis Center.

'I've been trying to not lob so much," the former NU tennis player said. "I lob much more than the average player. Today, in that last set, I wasn't really guess I just went back to my old game.'

Garnett defeated Bill Roach of Omaha, 2-6, 7-5, 7-5 to wan the men's open title for the second straight year. Garnett, a tall, overpowering player, was taking advantage of Roach's height.

We were kind of joking about his height," Garnett said. "I hit one lob and he said to remember that he was 5-8 and not 4-8 after he returned it. Then a bit later, I hit one that I thought would put him away and he slammed it back at me. I mentioned to him that he shouldn't have been able to get it and he said, 'But I'm a good leaper.' I guess my lob did start working for me in that last set.'

Garnett had trouble getting started, and was missing his first serve more often than he would have liked.

When I was serving down 2-4 in the second set, I thought that if I could get that game I could get back in the match. It was a long one. But I finally got it," he said. "That was when I started to slow things down.

Garnett, who defeated Roach last year for the same tourney title, had nothing but praise for the senior at Kearney State

"Bill is the best returner of serves of anybody in this tournament and he just kept frustrating me when he'd return a omildn't come back.'' said Garnett. "It's hard to play against a friend I'm always for Bill when he's playing and it's difficult to play him. But it's better in the finals than earlier, where one of us would eliminate the other."

Playing against a friend wasn't all John Dudley had to worry about in the men's 45 singles. He was playing Mark Haller, a cousin he hadn't seen in 35 years.

'You approach it a bit differently." he joked "You're not going to think of him as your enemy on the court. "We're so close in ability that I knew it would be a close match," Dudley said The tennis coach at a California high school beat Haller, 7-6, 6-4 "We kind of had each other running. In this age bracket, you have to try to wear out your opponent.

In other matches, second seed Ana C. Otwell defeated top seed Jean Boicourt, 6-3, 64 in the women's 35 singles. Boicourt the 35 doubles, 6-2, 6-3, over Iva Mae Donnan and Elena Sumon. Ken Lidie of Bellevue won the men's 35 singles, 1-6, 6-1, 6-1 over Tuck Voxburg but when he teamed with Wally Ryan, Dudley and Haller defeated them in the men's 45 doubles, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4.

In the men's open doubles, Larry Oxford and Chuck Hawkins downed Rob Schefter to get the nose of his car inside and Steve Gerdes, 7-6, 4-6, 6-4. Robert on the turns. Then on the first Hailer and Dudley won the 35 mens doubles, 6-4, 6-7, 6-2, over Jack Hohensee in the loose dirt high in the turn and George Martin

In the women's open doubles, Suzanne Green and Brenda Braig defeated Debbie Dennenberg and Diane Kobs, 2-6, 6-3, 7-6 In the women's open singles, Joyce

McVicker didn't have much trouble with Isabel Whitney, who was lumping slightly from an injury from a previous match. McVicker won, 6-2, 6-0

The wind really was a help for me. I had three aces that I wouldn't have had if it hadn't been for the wind," she said. "I didn't really think I'd do this well. I haven't played more than five times since the Nebraska Open in June '

But Whitney teammed with Barb Ringwalt, winner of the women's 25 singles Saturday, to win the 25 doubles, 6-0, 6-0, over Judy Filter and Polly Smith.

For Sprints In Knoxville Star Sports Writer Eagle — Éddie Leavitt is as

ready as anybody for the National Sprint Car Championships next week in Knoxville, Iowa.

And the Kearney, Mo., sprint car driver proved that fact once again Sunday night as he roared to win the 25-lap feature race at Eagle Raceway before about 1,-000 fans.

Leavitt took over the lead on the sixth lap from Californian Jim Sills and breezed to his fourth feature win of the week.

Saturday night, Leavitt won the Knoxville feature, after taking the top honors in feature races at Burlington, Ia., and Des Moines earlier in the week. Sills had taken the lead from

Ken McCarty on the first lap and appeared as though he would grab an easy victory when he assumed a sizable lead after only two laps.

But Lincolnite Jim Riggins spun in the second turn on the fourth lap causing a restart and closing the field.

Leavitt stayed right behind Sills for the next two laps, trying turn of the sixth is and Leavitt zipped into command for good.

"I think that was the only way I could get around Sills," said Leavitt. "He was running awfully fast and I don't know what would have happened if he hadn't made that little mistake."

Sills, driving on the Eagle one quarter mile dirt track for the first time set the fastest time in the trials and came within threehundreths of a second of the track record for one lap.

"I just went into that first turn too quick and got caught in the marbles (loose dirt)," said Sills. "I hold a lot of track records back in California and I was hoping to set one here and then

"But if you have to finish second it might as well be behind Leavitt, because that's no dishonor. He's a great driver," Sills Dick Suttcliffe, who started in the third position in the 13-car field, held his position throughout the race but the battle for fourth wasn't decided until the checkered flag dropped.

Lincolnite Butch "Bullet" Bahr had slipped to sixth place early in the race but worked his way up to fifth on the 15th lap passing Don Maxwell.

Then on the 17th lap, Bahr passed McCarty on the inside of the fourth turn to take fourth. Maxwell and Dick Morris, who won last week's feature race at Eagle, then battled with Morris gaining an edge at the finish for fifth place.

Trophy dash winner Gary Dunkie had to drop from the race on the third lap with an ignition problem. Lonnie Jensen flipped his car in the first turn during his heat race when a torsion bar snapped and the car went out of control. Jensen was uninjured in the accident. Heat winners included Mike Pinckney, Morris and Sills.

Many of the drivers competing Sunday will vy for the national championships at Knozville Aug. 11 to 14 at the Marion County Raceway in Iowa.

South Gridders Seek Unity

By CHUCK SINCLAIR

Prep Sports Writer Crete — South Shrine Bowl assistant football coach Norm Sheets believes suity may be the answer to stopping a North line with four players towaring over the 6-4 mark.

The same kind of unity that was prevalent during an hour long acrimmage Senday night at Samon Field on the Donne College campus.

Also the same kind of unity that's been evident from the start of camp a week

"We're a team all the way," mid defensive coordinator Shorts, the head couch at Hastings High. "It didn't take the kids an hour last Sundry when they reported to camp to all know each other. There wasn't one hid in $3 left out.

"They're a group said they play football like a group," Sheets added. "That's why all of our detensive kids looked good out there tonight. You just couldn't single any one player out."

The defense was strong, limiting the offense to-just one touchdown, a one yard run by Lincoln East's Sam Yourdl, on the last play of the might.

But the defence ween't so strong that head couch John Pairman was displaced with any phase of the offensive attack.

"We were just real pleased with the way the offence can the hall up and down frown to the coaches faces, it was injury. A mid-scrimmage injury, in all probability, cost the South the loss of its

That should make the North 18-point favorites now," Faimen joked. "Thirtyone against 33 isn't very fair odds. Actually, even if the kids thought they were ready Saturday, we probably wouldn't risk the chance of injuring them."

With the offense starting from its own 20-yard line for each drive, several long drives were sestained although none crossed the goal line until the final drive. Omaha Westaide fullback Bob Billis was credited with the longest gain of the night, 23 yards while, defensively, Tom Matthies of Oxford, 6-7, 269 pounds, had two quarterback sacks and knocked down one pass

Quarterbacks Brad Humphrey of Believue and Mark Mancuso combined for just three completions in 14 attempts There were about four of those that

If the North backs drop any ball, Sheets will be happy since the defense covered all the offensive fumbles throughout the

We feel everytime that ball drops on the field, it's ours," Sheets said. "We pick up all that loose stuff we can. The boot thing is that we've got five more days to Soturday," Frienen said. "What we'll work with for even better unity."

Ak-Sar-Ben Winding

By MARK GORDON Star Sports Writer

Omaha — Short boofbeats as Ak-Sar-Ben swings into its final five days of racing Officials from Ak-Sar-Ben and the Nebraska State Fairgrounds in Lincoln have been pleased with attendance and mutuel handle averages in the first 10 days of the 15-day State Fairgrounds' racing segment at Ak-Sar-Ben

For the Lincoln races, the daily average crowd has been 12,788 with an average daily mutuel handle of $1,119,678 Those figures are somewhat down from the regular 80-day Ak-Sar-Ben averages of 14.-792 and $1,208,996

However, the high temperatures and humidity combined with the tiring effect of a longer meet make the Lincoln figures most impressive -

The favorites have had a tough time at the Lancoln races at Ak-Sar-Ben. Through 90 races in the first two weeks, the figures are 24 winners, 12 second-places, 12 thirdplaces and 42 favorites failed to reach the mutuel money positions Percentage wise. that's 26 per cent winning favorites and just 53 per cent favorites in the money

In fact, from Thursday's minth race through Saturday's eighth race, 17 straight favorites failed to win. That should convince horseplayers who feel doubling up on the favorite is the best way to play horses is somewhat false

If you started with $2 to win on the favorate in Thursday's month race, you would have needed $262.144 to bet on Shikey's Leo, the next favorite to win Suffice it to say, if someone bet $262,144, Shikey's Leo would have tumbled from a 2-) pick to a 1-9 favorite. The best advice is don't use a progressive betting system on favorites - they have their cold streaks The Lincoln races at Ak-Sar-Ben end

Saturday with the $50,000-added Bicentenmal Handscap at a mile and 1/8th Racing secretary and handicapper

Robert Pollock has assigned top-weight of 121 pounds to Our Talisman, trained by Robert Frankel, who has been campaigning at Hollywood Park near Los Angeles

Sharp Gary, winner of the $35,000-added Nebraska Racing Hall of Fame Handicap. is second with 118 pounds. He ran a disappointing fifth in the July 24 Executive Board Handicap That was his fourth straight Saturday race at Ak-Sar-Ben so perhaps he was getting tired

The Shinrone Farms' Methdioxya, who won the Executive Board Handscap, may be the horse to beat. He has been weighted with 117 pounds

Saturday's final race in Ak's marathon series will be a two mile and 70-yard test R E Lee's Sharp Melody, who won a mile and half test last week is expected to comnete Wavne Anderson rode Sharp Melody to that win Anderson also won last year's two mile and 70-yard closing-day feature on Real Style.

Ak-Sar-Ben and the local division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association has reached agreement on eligibility and race requirements for the 1977 Omaha races

The major points include

- the minimum claiming price will be $3,200 and the minimum purse will be $4,-500. This year's minimum claiming price was $2,500 - Maidens five-year-olds or older will not be eligible for stall space and horses 12 years old or older will not be eligible for stall space or any race at Ak-Sar-Ben.

 Ak-Sar-Ben reserves the right to approve stalls for all horses. Deadline for stall applications will be March 14, 1977

And the Americans had the satisfaction that one of the men helping hand out their gold medals was William Jones, secretary-general of the International Amateur Basketball Association and the man who made the rulings that gave Russia the gold in 1972.

The boxing successes tied a U.S. record, set when the Americans won five titles in 1952 at Helsinki. This year a pair of ferocious brothers, Michael and Leon Spinks of St. Louis, led the way, and both scored knockouts in the finals. Leo Randolph, Howard Davis and Ray Leonard also

Track and field, however, the traditional focal point of the Olympics, was a disaster.
The U.S. won only four individual gold medals in 21 events, Mac Wilkins in the discus, Edwin Moses in the 400-meter hurdles, Arnie Robinson in the long jump and Bruce Jenner in the decathlon.

Robinson blamed the poor showing on a lack of government support—as opposed to the state-supported athletes in Iron Curtain countries who won most of the other

"We cannot compete with the pros," Robinson said. "Unless the government supports us, there is no way you can bear these other countries."

Some of the Communist countries, however, had their problems, too, particularly the Russians. Even though they won more medals than anybody else, the Soviets stumbled through one embarrassing moment after another in these games — both on and off the fields of com-

Off the field, the Soviets officially mocked the first dispute that threatened the Games. When Taiwan threatened to quit and then did, because the Canadian government would not let it use the official International Olympic Committee name, "Republic of China," Russians proclaimed that other nations, particularly the United States, were exaggerating the whole problem.

The Soviets said nothing could move them to quit the Olympics, and they said there would be no such problems in 1980 when the Games are held in Moscow.

now the controversy begins. Is the United States still second best or has it dipped to third? Obviously, it all depends on your point of view. A final onslaught by the boxers, who won five gold medals and a silver in the windup competition Saturday night, enabled the U.S. to overtake East Germany in total medals for the Olympics, 94-89. However, the East Germans easily beat out the Yanks in gold medals, 39-34.

Far ahead of the field once again was the Soviet Union with 47 gold medals and a total of

Generally, team standings are based on gold medals, which would give the Germans the runnerup position. And, although the U.S. did win more medals, this can't really be a point of pride inasmuch as East Germany is a country approxi-mately the size of Ohio with a population of 17 million people. Philip O. Krumm, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, pointed out Sunday that East Germany spends $50 million a year on team development to only $1 million for the U.S.

"I don't think there is any problem money wouldn't solve," said Krumm, who added the U.S. could return to Olympic domination if it was willing to spend $25 million a year on development. "We would like government neip, but not government direction.

For the Americans, their performance here marked a virtual standstill since the Munich Olympics, when they took home 33 gold and 93 total medals. East Germany, which didn't even compete as an entity in the Olympics until 1968, had 20 gold and 66 medals four years of the 34 American gold medals, exactly half were achieved by the men swimmers, who incredibly won 12 of the 13 events, and by the boxers, with their championships in five of the 11 categories. In addition, the men swimmers were responsible for 27 of the 94 total

Game' Sparks Garnett

By RYLY JANE HAMBLETON Star Sports Writer

It was Sig Garnett's "old game" that helped him defend his title in men's open singles Sunday in the Lincoln Adult Open at Woods Tennis Center.

"I've been trying to not lob so much," the former NU tennis player said. "I lob much more than the average player. Today, in that last set, I wasn't really about what I was doing and guess I just went back to my old game. Garnett defeated Bill Roach of Omaha,

2-6, 7-5, 7-5 to win the men's open title for the second straight year. Garnett, a tall, overpowering player, was taking advantage

"We were kind of joking about his height," Garnett said. "I hit one lob and he said to remember that he was 5-8 and not 4-8 after he returned it. Then a bit later, I hit one that I thought would put him away and he slammed it back at me. I mentioned to him that he shouldn't have been able to get it and he said, 'But I'm a good leaper.' I guess my lob did start working for me in

Garnett had trouble getting started, and

'When I was serving down 2-4 in the second set, I thought that if I could get that game I could get back in the match. It was a long one. But I finally got it," he said. "That was when I started to slow things

Garnett, who defeated Roach last year for the same tourney title, had nothing but praise for the senior at Kearney State

"Bill is the best returner of serves of anybody in this tournament and he just kept frustrating me when he'd return a wouldn't come back," said Garnett. "It's hard to play against a friend. I'm always for Bill when he's playing and it's difficult to play him. But it's better in the finals than earlier, where one of us would eliminate the other."

Playing against a friend wasn't all John Dudley had to worry about in the men's 45 singles. He was playing Mark Haller, a cousin he hadn't seen in 35 years.

'You approach it a bit differently," he joked. "You're not going to think of him as your enemy on the court. 'We're so close in ability that I knew it would be a close match," Dudley said. The tennis coach at a California high school beat Haller, 7-6, 6-4. "We kind of had each other running. In this age bracket, you have to try to wear out your opponent.

In other matches, second seed Ana C. Otwell defeated top seed Jean Boicourt, 6-3, 6-4 in the women's 35 singles. Boicourt joined with Audrey Kirschenbaum to win the 35 doubles, 6-2, 6-3, over Iva Mae Donnan and Elena Simon. Ken Lidie of Bellevue won the men's 35

singles, 1-6, 6-1, 6-1 over Tuck Voxburg but when he teamed with Wally Ryan, Dudley and Haller defeated them in the men's 45 doubles, 2-6, 6-4, 6-4. In the men's open doubles, Larry Oxford and Chuck Hawkins downed Rob Schefter and Steve Gerdes, 7-6, 4-6, 6-4. Robert Haller and Dudley won the doubles, 6-4, 6-7, 6-2, over Jack Hohensee and George Martin. In the women's open doubles, Suzanne

Green and Brenda Braig defeated Debbie Dennenberg and Diane Kobs, 2-6, 6-3, 7-6. In the women's open singles, Joyce McVicker didn't have much trouble with Isabel Whitney, who was limping slightly from an injury from a previous match. McVicker won, 6-2, 6-0. "The wind really was a help for me. I had three aces that I wouldn't have had if it hadn't been for the wind," she said. "I didn't really think I'd do this well, I haven't played more than five times since the Nebraska Open in June. But Whitney teammed with Barb Ringwalt, winner of the women's 25 singles Saturday, to win the 25 doubles, 6-0, 6-0, over Judy Filter and Polly Smith. Results, Page 12

Leavitt Ready For Sprints

In Knoxville

Star Sports Writer
Eagle — Eddie Leavitt is as ready as anybody for the National Sprint Car Championships next week in Knoxville, Iowa.

And the Kearney, Mo., sprint car driver proved that fact once again Sunday night as he roared to win the 25-lap feature race at Eagle Raceway before about 1,-

Leavitt took over the lead on the sixth lap from Californian Jim Sills and breezed to his fourth feature win of the week. Saturday night, Leavitt won the Knoxville feature, after taking the top honors in feature races at Burlington, Ia., and Des Moines earlier in the week. Sills had taken the lead from

Ken McCarty on the first lap and appeared as though he would grab an easy victory when he assumed a sizable lead after only

But Lincolnite Jim Riggins spun in the second turn on the fourth lap causing a restart and closing the field.

Leavitt stayed right behind Sills for the next two laps, trying to get the nose of his car inside on the turns. Then on the first in the loose dirt high in the turn and Leavitt zipped into command for good. "I think that was the only way

I could get around Sills," said Leavitt. "He was running awfully fast and I don't know what would have happened if he hadn't made that little mistake."

Sills, driving on the Eagle one quarter mile dirt track for the first time set the fastest time in the trials and came within threehundreths of a second of the track record for one lap.

"I just went into that first turn too quick and got caught in the marbles (loose dirt)," said Sills. "I hold a lot of track records back in California and I was hoping to set one here and then

"But if you have to finish second it might as well be behind Leavitt, because that's no dishonor. He's a great driver," Sills

Dick Suttcliffe, who started in the third position in the 13-car field, held his position throughout the race but the battle for fourth wasn't decided until the checkered flag dropped.

Lincolnite Butch "Bullet" Bahr had slipped to sixth place early in the race but worked his way up to fifth on the 15th lap passing Don Maxwell.

Then on the 17th lap, Bahr passed McCarty on the inside of the fourth turn to take fourth. Maxwell and Dick Morris, who won last week's feature race at Eagle, then battled with Morris gaining an edge at the finish for fifth place.

Trophy dash winner Gary Dunkle had to drop from the race on the third lap with an ignition problem. Lonnie Jensen flipped his car in the first turn during his heat race when a torsion bar snapped and the car went out of control. Jensen was uninjured in the accident.

Heat winners included Mike Pinckney, Morris and Sills. Many of the drivers competing

South Gridders Seek Unity

By CHUCK SINCLAIR

Prep Sports Writer
Crete — South Shrine Bowl assistant football coach Norm Sheets believes unity may be the answer to stopping a North line with four players towering over the 6-The same kind of unity that was prevalent during an hour long scrimmage Sunday night at Simon Field on the Doane College campus.

Also the same kind of unity that's been evident from the start of camp a week

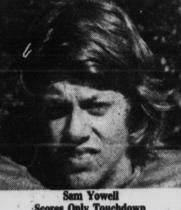

"We're a team all the way," said defensive coordinator Sheets, the head coach at Hastings High. "It didn't take the kids an hour last Sunday when they reported to camp to all know each other. There wasn't one kid in 33 left out.

"They're a group and they play football like a group," Sheets added. "That's why all of our defensive kids looked good out there tonight. You just couldn't single any one player out."

The defense was strong, limiting the offense to-just one touchdown, a one yard run by Lincoln East's Sam Yowell, on the last play of the night. But the defense wasn't so strong that head coach John Faiman was displeased with any phase of the offensive attack. "We were just real pleased with the way the offense ran the ball up and down the field," Faiman said. "We ran and passed well. I'm real happy."

If there was one aspect that brought a frown to the coaches faces, it was injury.

A mid-scrimmage injury, in all probability, cost the South the loss of its have to do is look at kids that played high school linebacker to fill in. Right now, we're down to two linebackers.

"That should make the North 18-point favorites now," Faiman joked. "Thirtyone against 33 isn't very fair odds. Actually, even if the kids thought they were ready Saturday, we probably wouldn't risk the chance of injuring them."

With the offense starting from its own 20-yard line for each drive, several long drives were sustained although none crossed the goal line until the final drive. Omaha Westside fullback Bob Billinger was credited with the longest gain of the night, 33 yards while, defensively, Tom Matthies of Oxford, 6-7, 240 pounds, had two quarterback sacks and knocked down Quarterbacks Brad Humphrey of Bellevue and Mark Mancuso combined for just three completions in 14 attempts.

"There were about four of those that were just dropped," Faiman said. "But that sounds good. Now they won't worry about our passing game."

If the North backs drop any ball, Sheets will be happy since the defense covered all the offensive fumbles throughout the

Ak-Sar-Ben Winding

By MARK GORDON

Star Sports Writer Omaha — Short hoofbeats as Ak-Sar-Ben swings into its final five days of racing: Officials from Ak-Sar-Ben and the

have been pleased with attendance and mutuel handle averages in the first 10 days of the 15-day State Fairgrounds' racing segment at Ak-Sar-Ben. For the Lincoln races, the daily average crowd has been 12,788 with an average daily mutuel handle of $1,119.678. Those figures are somewhat down from the regular 60-day Ak-Sar-Ben averages of 14,-792 and $1,208,996. However, the high temperatures and humidity combined with the tiring effect of a longer meet make the Lincoln figures most impressive.. The favorites have had a tough time at the Lincoln races at Ak-Sar-Ben. Through 90 races in the first two weeks, the figures are 24 winners, 12 second-places, 12 thirdplaces and 42 favorites failed to reach the mutuel money positions. Percentage-wise, that's 26 per cent winning favorites and just 53 per cent favorites in the money.

In fact, from Thursday's ninth race through Saturday's eighth race, 17 straight favorites failed to win. That should convince horseplayers who feel doubling up on the favorite is the best way to play horses is favorite in Thursday's ninth race, you

If you started with $2 to win on the would have needed $262,144 to bet on Shikey's Leo, the next favorite to win. Suffice it to say, if someone bet $262,144, Shikey's Leo would have tumbled from a 2-1 pick to a 1-9 favorite.

The best advice is don't use a progressive betting system on favorites — they have their cold streaks. The Lincoln races at Ak-Sar-Ben end

Saturday with the $50,000-added Bicentennial Handicap at a mile and 1/8th. Racing secretary and handicapper Robert Pollock has assigned top-weight of 121 pounds to Our Talisman, trained by Robert Frankel, who has been campaigning at Hollywood Park near Los Sharp Gary, winner of the $35,000-added Nebraska Racing Hall of Fame Handicap, is second with 118 pounds. He ran a disappointing fifth in the July 24 Executive Board Handicap. That was his fourth straight Saturday race at Ak-Sar-Ben so perhaps he was getting tired.

The Shinrone Farms' Methdioxya, who won the Executive Board Handicap, may be the horse to beat. He has been weighted with 117 pounds.

Saturday's final race in Ak's marathon series will be a two mile and 70-yard test. R. E. Lee's Sharp Melody, who won a mile and half test last week is expected to compete. Wayne Anderson rode Sharp Melody to that win. Anderson also won last year's two mile and 70-yard closing-day feature on Real Style.

Ak-Sar-Ben and the local division of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Association has reached agreement on eligibility and race requirements for the 1977 Omaha races.

The major points include: - the minimum claiming price will be $3,200 and the minimum purse will be $4,-500. This year's minimum claiming price

South Defeats Kearney Squad

Kearney - The South All-Star basketball team charged back from a four-point halftime deficit to defeat a team of players from the Kearney area, 119-107. Head coach Rod Felix was pleased with the high-powered offense that his team showed in the games, which was the first time the South scrimmaged against outside competition. The team charged ahead in the first quarter thanks to the sharp shooting of Syracuses's Jeff Vannen and Omaha Westside's Rick Graham, but fell behind in the second with a poor three-for-14 performance from the floor. Felix experimented with a three-guard offense against the bigger, stronger Kearney team

Chuck Schnoor of Minden joined

Dickey and Trotter at guard, scored 11 points and added some speed to the South lineup.

Wayne - The North all-star basketball team defeated a group of Wayne area players in a Saturday night scrimmage, 98-

However, North head coach Ken Trubey of Ord was disap-"We've got a bit of work to do on all areas of our game, Trubey said. "We've got to work on getting into our half-court offense Our shot selection was really poor at times ' "On defense, we had some people break down on coverage I'm disappointed with the way some players contributed to the team effort," he added Trubey praised Omaha Creighton Prep's Chris Salerno

"Chris probably had as good a scrimmage as anyone," Trubey

for his efforts

Viren Cited For Runs In Games

Third To Viren

Lasse Viren, who became the first runner ever to win both the 5,000-meter and 10,000-meter runs in two straight Olympic Games, was named the outstanding athlete of the 1976 Games Sunday in a poll of United Press International reporters who covered the com-

Viren received 15 votes; nosing out Nadia Comaneci, the 14year-old Romanian gymnast. Third was Bruce Jenner of the United States, who won the decathalon with a world record performance. Tied for fourth were East German swimmer Kornelia Ender, boxer Leon Spinks of the United States and Cuban track standout Alberto Juantorena, while Teofilo Stevenson of Cuba received one vote.

Other Olympics

The Soviet Union is expected to easily surpass the 47 Gold Medals it won in Montreal when Moscow hosts the 1980 Olympic Games

The President of the United States Olympic Committee said Sunday a lack of communications on the national and international level was cause of all problems dealing with the Olympics, including the withdrawl of the African nations.

Two Olympic athletes from Romania defected to Canada Sunday, bringing the total of East European Communist bloc defectors to five, while Soviet diver Sergei Nemtsanov rebuffed a Russian attempt to bring him home.

Frenchmen Hubert Parot and Marcel Rozier each recorded one flaw over a 14-obstacle course in the second round Sunday to lift their team to its first ever gold medal in Equestrian Grand Prix Jumpings, the last event of the 21st Olympics.

Other Sports

Henry Aaron, the Milwaukee Brewers' all-time homer run champion, has confirmed that he will leave the team when his contract ends at the end of this season to return to Atlanta. He did not, however, confirm that he will accept a front office job with the Atlanta Braves.

South Korean challenger Yum Dong-Kyun was declared the new super bantanweight champion Sunday night after a controversial 15-round title match in Pusan, South Korea, against World Boxing Council champion Rigoberto Riasco of Panama.

Texan A. J. Foyt, battling sweltering heat and humidity, fought off all challengers Sunday to win both Indy and stock car halves of the Twin 150s for his third straight victory at Texas World

Rain delayed the start of a $100,000 international tournament Sunday and top-seeds Jimmy Connors, Manuel Orantes of Spain and Arthur Ashe will be in action Monday when the competition

South Defeats Kearney Squad

Kearney — The South All-Star basketball team charged back from a four-point halftime deficit to defeat a team of players from the Kearney area, 119-107. Head coach Rod Felix was pleased with the high-powered offense that his team showed in the games, which was the first time the South scrimmaged against outside competition.

The team charged ahead in the first quarter thanks to the sharp shooting of Syracuses's Jeff Nannen and Omaha Westside's Rick Graham, but fell behind in the second with a poor three-for-14 performance from the floor.

Felix experimented with a three-guard offense against the bigger, stronger Kearney team. Chuck Schnoor of Minden joined Dickey and Trotter at guard, scored 11 points and added some speed to the South lineup.

North Gains Win, 98-85

Wayne - The North all-star basketball team defeated a group of Wayne-area players in a Saturday night scrimmage, 98-

However, North head coach Ken Trubey of Ord was disap-

"We've got a bit of work to do on all areas of our game,' Trubey said. "We've got to work on getting into our half-court offense. Our shot selection was really poor at times."

"On defense, we had some people break down on coverage. I'm disappointed with the way some players contributed to the team effort," he added. Trubey praised Omaha

Creighton Prep's Chris Salerno for his efforts. "Chris probably had as good a scrimmage as anyone," Trubey

Gable Set To Coach

Waterloo, Iowa (AP) - Dan Gable, a two-time national collegiate champion at Iowa State and an Olympic gold medalist, will be named head wrestling coach at the University of Iowa, the Waterloo Courier reported Sunday.

Prep Sports Editor Fremont - You've all heard the football expression "a back is only as good as his line." Well, North Shrine Bowl head coach Bob Starr of North Platte may change that to read "a line is only as good as its backs" after Sunday's scrimmage here at Midland College. Starr is on record saying the North line may be the best assembled in the 18-year history of the Nebraska charity game.

But throughout the first week of training camp, Starr couldn't help scratching his head. The line was living up to expectations, but an all-star collection of North backs was causing con-

"I've been worried," Starr said. "Our hacks haven't been reading or cutting well all week.

Worry changed to confidence Sunday as Plainview's Tim McCrady, Omaha Burke's Tim Wurth, Omaha North's Frank Taylor, Oakland-Craig's Darryl Anderson, Albion's Marion McCuiston and Columbus Scotus' Dan Martin all ran well, according to Starr.

'They all did good things," he "There were so many questions that weren't answered before today. I sure have a lot more faith in our running backs pionship last fall. McCrady is one of several players Starr is considering for double duty in Saturday's Shrine game at Memorial Stadium. Taylor, Martin and Grand Island split end-defensive back Steve Frei are among other two-way possibilities. "Outside of four or five kids, I think all our squad is capable of playing both offense and defense," Starr said. "By tomorrow, we should have a fairly accurate idea of which way we'll go.' Starr also praised the running of Wurth, who was sidelined last Thursday with an injury. "He came back today and showed he can read anyone on the field," Starr said after Wurth rushed for 30 vards on nine carries. John Fischer of Columbus Scotus and McCulaton joined McCrady in Sunday's scoring column. Fischer caught a 37yard pass from Omaha Benson's James Morrison and snagged a

Gable Set To Coach

Waterloo, Iowa (AP) - Dan Gable, a two-time national collegiate champion at Iowa State and an Olympic gold medalist, will be named head wrestling coach at the University of Iowa, the Waterloo Courier reported Sunday.

North Backs Improving By RANDY YORK

Prep Sports Editor
Fremont — You've all heard the football expression "a back is only as good as his line."

Well, North Shrine Bowl head coach Bob Starr of North Platte may change that to read "a line is only as good as its backs" after Sunday's scrimmage here at Midland College. Starr is on record saying the North line may be the best assembled in the 18-year history of the Nebraska charity game.

But throughout the first week of training camp, Starr couldn't help scratching his head. The line was living up to expec-tations, but an all-star collection of North backs was causing con-

Worry changed to confidence Sunday as Plainview's Tim McCrady, Omaha Burke's Tim Wurth, Omaha North's Frank Taylor, Oakland-Craig's Darryl Anderson, Albion's Marion McCuiston and Columbus Scotus' Dan Martin all ran well, according to Starr.

'They all did good things," he said. "There were so many questions that weren't answered before today. I sure have a lot more faith in our running backs

Judds Splits With Columbus

Columbus — Lincoln Judds split with Columbus here Sunday in junior legion baseball action, winning the first game 4-3, and losing the second game, 2-0.

That left the Lincolnites with a 15-21 record. Judds meets 1st National Bank in an area tournament Thursday night in Beatrice.

McCrady, a three-time Sunday Journal and Star Class C allstater, was the most effective. He rushed eight times for 54 yards and scored the scrimmage's first touchdown on a 21-yard sprint around right end. "The more I'm around that kid, the more impressed I am," Starr said of McCrady, who led Plainview to an unbeaten record and Class C-1 state championship last fall.

McCrady is one of several players Starr is considering for double duty in Saturday's Shrine game at Memorial Stadium. Taylor, Martin and Grand Island split end-defensive back Steve Frei are among other two-way possibilities.

"Outside of four or five kids, I think all our squad is capable of playing both offense and defense," Starr said. "By tomorrow, we should have a fairly accurate idea of which way we'll go." Starr also praised the running of Wurth, who was sidelined last Thursday with an injury. "He came back today and showed he can read anyone on the field," Starr said after Wurth rushed for

30 yards on nine carries. John Fischer of Columbus Scotus and McCuiston joined McCrady in Sunday's scoring column. Fischer caught a 37yard pass from Omaha Benson's James Morrison and snagged a

Defensive standouts in Sunday's scrimmage were middle guard Kerry Weinmaster of North Platte, tackles Dan Pensick of Columbus and Jim Molini of Norfolk and linebacker Tom

Frickes Win Semi-Pro Title

BEATRICE, Neb. (AP) -The Omaha Frickes came from a five-run deficit to defeat the Omaha McCanns, 11-7, for the 40th annual Nebraska Semi-Pro baseball championship Sunday cight.

It was the Frickes' fifth straight tourney win and the second for pitcher Dave Blum who went the distance.

Behind 7-6 in the fourth inning, the Frickes put together three runs when Rich Bernstein doubled in two runners and scored on Larry Pilgrim's single.

The victory was the toughest of the tournament for the champions. McCanns scored five runs in the top of the first on three walks and four singles.

Frickes gained the lead with two runs in the second, aided by a Dennis Johnston triple, and four runs in the third when McCanns' starting hurler Steve Russell allowed five walks.

Olympics Come To A Close

nations, mostly black African or Arab, also packed up to protest the presence of New Zealand, which has maintained its sports ties with South Africa. And at the end, the Russians threatened the final weekend of the Games by saying they might quit unless the Canadian govern ment returned 17-year-old diver Sergei Nemtsavon, who had defected.

The Canadians held firm, however, and the Russians stayed.

Sunday, after the games had ended, Philip O. Krumm, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said the walkouts had 'nothing to do" with the New Zealand-South Africa situation, saying, "That was just a crutch used by the African nations."

"I hope someone can find out the real reason," Krumm said. "The people who get hurt are the athletes.

The communications between the International Olympic Committee and its nations must be knitted closer together." There were times during the two weeks, however, that the Russians wished they were not here. A Russian athlete named Boris Onischenko, a world champion in modern pentathlon, was thrown out of the Games when officials discovered his enee had been rigged in such a way as to register a hit even when he did not make one. They found this out when the electronic board showed Onischenko had scored a hit against Jeremy Fox of Britain at a time the two fencers were four feet apart. Onischenko's disqualification cost the Russians, the defending champions, a shot at a repeat gold medal and, ironically, Britain wound up as the winner. Onlochenko was condemned by the Soviet sports federa-

Three athletes, the first in history, were disqualified for using anabolic steroids to improve their performances.

At the end, U.S. Olympic Committee officials were wondering if they could find more conventional ways to improve performances before Moscow.

"The rest of the world is catching up with us," said Robert Kane, first vice president of the USOC. "It's that simple."

Kane said the President's Committee on Amateur Sports, which has been studying what the government might do to encourage more Americans to get involved in sports, is considering a "national sports body which would set up the financing for the things that need to be done."

The big difference between the Americans and the Russians and East Germent was, simply, the difference between men and women. Twenty of East Germany's gold metals were won by women. swimmers and women track and field performers, for example. The United States did not get a gold medal from its track women for the second Olympics in a row, and only one from the women swimmers.

But that last one was a beauty.

Ender was shooting for her fifth gold medal and an all-time women's Olympic record in the final event, the 400-meter freestyle relay. With her grandmother in the stands— their $6-minute meeting that morning was their first and probably their last-Ender gave East Germany a load of one body length on the first log. But her teammates let her down and a U.S. team of Kim Peyton, Wendy Boglioli, Jil Sterhel and Shirley Babashoff was the

Besides the victories by Naber, the U.S. men swimmers also got two individual gold medal performances from Brian Goodell and one each from Mike Bruner, Bruce Furniss, John Hencken, Matt Vogel and Rod Strachan.

The other Americans who struck gold Boggs, shooters Don Haldeman and Lanny Bassham, archers Darrell Pace and Luann Ryon, wrestler John Peterson and Ted Coffin, an equestrian performer.

A gymnast named Peter Kormann, a senior at Southern Connecticut State College, won a bronze medal in the floor exercise. It was the first American medal in Olympic gymnastics since 1928. James Butts, a triple jumper, placed second in that event, also the first U.S. medal in that event since 1928.

There were plenty of other "firsts" for U.S. track and field athletes, but they were all negative. There was no U.S. medal in the 100 meters for the first time since 1928, a loss of the 110 meter hardles for the first time since 1928, no medal in the shot but for the first time since 1936, and a loss of the 490 for the first time since 1956.

An even bigger surprise, however, was the flop of outspoken high jumper Dwight Stones. Stones, who raised the world record to 7-7 in the NGAA championships two months ago, boastfully and brainly came here and "guaranteed" victory. He angered Canadians by blasting the way the Games were being run, and in return, was roundly boord. He cleared no higher than 7-3, finishing third, and ironically one of the two men who best him was a Canadian, Greg Joy. Stones had said he might go "berserk" on the victory stand. but he did not get the chance. Someone else did go berserk, however, a crackpot who telephoned a death threat to the Olympic Stadium after Stones had been eliminated. Stones received police protection, and there was no incident.

The city of Montreal and the province of Quebec, meanwhile, were left with a staggering $1 billion-plan deficit that will have to be made up on these Games, which originally were to cost only a little over $300 million. It was a financial and also an artistic disaster for Canada, which became the first host nation in Olympic history to fail to win a gold medal.

But if the spirit of the Olympics really is competing for the sake of competition, then the whole show wrapped up Saturday evening when a Bolivian named Lucio Guachella trutted into the stadium. He was the last fin in the murathon, 35 miles 365 yards of graciling running through, at it turned out, the rain. Guacitalia finished 38 minutes behind the winner, Waldemar Cherpizzki of East Germany. But the 70,000 fant gave him one of the loudest ovations of the

BEATRICE, Neb. (AP) -The Omaha Frickes came from a five-run deficit to defeat the Omaha McCanns, 11-7, for the 40th annual Nebraska Semi-Pro baseball championship Sunday

It was the Frickes' fifth straight tourney win and the second for pitcher Dave Blum who went the distance.

Behind 7-6 in the fourth inning, the Frickes put together three runs when Rich Bernstein doubled in two runners and scored on Larry Pilgrim's

The victory was the toughest of the tournament for the champions. McCanns scored five runs in the top of the first on three walks and four singles.

Frickes gained the lead with two runs in the second, aided by a Dennis Johnston triple, and four runs in the third when McCanns' starting hurler Steve Russell allowed five walks.

Swingers Win State Tourney

North Platte - The Lincoln Swingers won the girls' junior high state softball tournament here Sunday by winning five straight games. The Lincoln Joys

The Swingers beat North Platte Osgood, North Platte Gateway Realty and then Pierce before meeting the Joys in the finals.

The Joys had beaten Pierce, 10-0 in the winners' bracket final game before the Swingers eliminated them.

The Swingers defeated the Joys, 12-8 in the first finals game, paced by Kim Brazee with three hits and Colleen Weygint with two doubles. A second game was required as the Joys had just one loss in the double elimination tournament.

Olympics Come To A Close

nations, mostly black African or Arab, also packed up to protest the presence of New Zealand, which has maintained its sports ties with South Africa. And at the end, the Russians threatened the final weekend of the Games by saying they might quit unless the Canadian government returned 17-year-old diver Sergei Nemtsavon, who had defected.

The Canadians held firm, however, and the Russians stayed.

Sunday, after the games had ended Philip O. Krumm, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said the walkouts had "nothing to do" with the New Zealand-South Africa situation, saying, "That was just a crutch used by the African nations."

"I hope someone can find out the real reason," Krumm said. "The people who get hurt are the athletes.

'The communications between the International Olympic Committee and its nations must be knitted closer together."

There were times during the two weeks, however, that the Russians wished they were not here. A Russian athlete named Boris Onischenko, a world champion in modern pentathlon, was thrown out of the Games when officials discovered his epee had been rigged in such a way as to register a hit even when he did not make one. They found this out when the electronic board showed Onischenko had scored a hit against Jeremy Fox of Britain at a time the two fencers were four feet apart. Onischenko's disqualification cost the Russians, the defending champions, a shot at a repeat gold medal and, ironically, Britain wound up as the winner. Onischenko was condemned by the Soviet sports federa-

Others besides the boxing judges were sent home. A Canadian sprinter, Robert James Butts, a triple jumper, placed second in that event, also the first U.S. medal in that event since 1928.

There were plenty of other "firsts" for U.S. track and field athletes, but they were all negative. There was no U.S. medal in the 100 meters for the first time since 1928, a loss of the 110 meter hurdles for the first time since 1928, no medal in the shot put for the first time since 1936, and a loss of the 400 for the first time since 1956.

An even bigger surprise, however, was the flop of outspoken high jumper Dwight Stones. Stones, who raised the world record to 7-7 in the NCAA chamworld record to 7-7 in the NGAA championships two months ago, boastfully and brashly came here and "guaranteed" victory. He angered Canadians by blasting the way the Games were being run, and in return, was roundly booed. He cleared no higher than 7-3, finishing third, and ironically one of the two men who beat him two according Green Ley Steppe had said was a Canadian, Greg Joy. Stones had said he might go "berserk" on the victory stand, but he did not get the chance. Someone else did go berserk, however, a crackpot who telephoned a death threat to the Olympic Stadium after Stones had been eliminated. Stones received police protection, and there was no incident.

The city of Montreal and the province of Quebec, meanwhile, were left with a staggering $1 billion-plus deficit that will have to be made up on these Games, which originally were to cost only a little over $300 million. It was a financial and also an artistic disaster for Canada, which became the first host nation in Olympic history to fail to win a gold medal.

But if the spirit of the Olympics really is competing for the sake of competition, then the whole show was wrapped up Saturday evening when a Bolivian named Lucio Guachalla trotted into the stadium. He was the last finisher gruelling running through, as it turned out, the rain. Guachalla finished 36 minutes behind the winner, Waldemar Cierpinski of East Germany. But the 70,000 fans gave Beverly Sills is considered the nation's greatest actress-opera singer. She is a Gemini and knows it and talks about it. "It's true." she says. "Gemini is double, dual. pulled in two directions at once, maybe even a spill personally! That is me!" Comment: I feel good when great persons, artists, writers, scientists, speak the language of astrology. I feel it is learned, clivilized. I admit I am prejudiced. You see, I have a love affair with astrology.

ARIES (March 2)-April 19): You uncover unusual conditions, aspects, money situations. You find it necessary to draw line where speculative ventures are concerned. You will be taking a more conservative course. Friends and money don't mix too well, not at this time. Know it and act accordingly.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Be positive about legal rights, permissions. Don't take partner or mate for granted, either. You're asked to produce documents. Key is to preserve and conserve. A long-distance call could aid in resolving dilemma.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Finish what you start. Deal with one who is independent, aggressive. Don't seek false flattery. State case as it exists. Basic issues dominate. One who performs a service may change in "radical" way. It is time to let go of past. There is no "free lunch." You'll know it!

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Have fun without being extravagant. It's possible and you learn some valuable techniques towards that end. Leo, Aquarius could figure prominently. Emphasis on romantic concerns, expression of desires and serback could be a temporary delay.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): What seems a setback could be a temporary delay. Know it and don't despair. Brush up on techniques, basic procedures. A bit of extra care, study achieves objective. Aquarian could figure prominently. You have extra responsibility — but you will be repaid.

viRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Direct con-frontation would be an error. Be flexible. Laugh at your lown foibles. Check long-distance calls, messages. Gemini, Sagit-tarius figure prominently. One who makes claims could be testing, covering un "emparrassing situation."

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): Windfall is possible. Roadblock is removed. Cash flow improves. What was a hazard can be transformed into an asset. Aquarius, Taurus and Leo are part of montage. You get accurate appraisal — this results in surprise. You'll be happier!

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21): Lunar aspects indicate quick changes, sudden decisions. Key now is to be flexible — and analytical. Member of opposite sex could serve as inspiration. You get solid support from quarters that previously seemed alienated.

port from quarters that previously seemed alienated.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): You gain most now by being diplomatic. One who was estranged could make gesture of reconciliation. Be receptive. A behind scenes maneuver works out favorably—for you. Taurus, Libra could be involved.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Friend confides — don't cast first stone. Accent on how to make wish come true. Key is to dig in and clear away superfluous material. Refine techniques and define terms. Pisces, Virgo figure prominently. You get "practical help" from one you aided in past.

Tap of the closed mind. Leave options open — professional associate, superior wants to aid. Key now is to organize priorities. Be responsible decisions, actions. Carriers Carriers and Applications and applications and applications and applications are propriet. priorities. Be responsible decisions, actions. Capricorn plays prominent role. PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20): Reach beyond apparent limitations. Long-range responses, reactions are emphasized. Open lines of communication. Get thoughts, concepts on paper. Take appropriate steps to protect ideas. A published report may have great significance.

IF AUGUST 2nd IS YOUR BIRTHDAY you are loyal, sensitive, may have digestive problem and will make serious home, domestic adjustment in September. Cancer, Capricorn persons play important roles in your life. You are sensitive, creative, stubborn and passionate. Travel shown in August—and an "affair of the heart."

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It's a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the fetters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked tigures give you.
